

LATE RETURNS MAKE CHANGES

Frear, Kempf, Beedle Are Now Said To Be The Candidates--Gilbert Won.

THE PLURALITY IS GIVEN BELOW

Folk And Bryan Will Campaign State For Alyward, The Democratic Nominee During The Present Fall Campaign.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 8.—The latest official returns that have been received show that Frear has been nominated for secretary of state, Kempf for state treasurer and Beedle
has defeated Purcell for insurance commissioner. Morse has defeated Madden for congress in the tenth district and Senator Hudson has distanced Andrews for state senator.
Wyle was defeated by a small majority.

The Votes Given.
The pluralities are: Frear, 4,000;
Kempf, 12,000; Beedle, 10,000;
Morse for congress, tenth district 105,
Kustermann 600 in the ninth, Jenkins
4500 in the eleventh, Stafford, 7,917
in the fifth and Babcock in third 437.
For state senator, Bishop won in the third, Page in the seventh, Brazeau in the ninth, Hudson in the eleventh, Matting in the seventeenth, Beach in the twenty-third, Foley in the twenty-seventh, Barker in the thirty-first and Lockney in the thirty-third.

Minor to Contest.
Congressman Minor it is understood will enter a formal contest on the nomination of Kustermann claiming that the polls on the Indian reservation
at Onida were not opened as they should have been.

For Alyward.
It was officially announced this afternoon that Bryan, and Folk of Missouri, would campaign for the state
this fall in the interests of Alyward, and the story that La Follette would join them in the work was also denied
at the same time.

Madison Report.
Madison, Wis., Sept. 8.—The returns
of the recent primary election received yesterday made little change in the situation, other than to indicate a little more strongly the nomination of Senator J. A. Frear of Hudson for secretary of state and to reduce the apparent plurality of Thomas M. Purcell for commissioner of insurance. J. J.
Kempf still leads for state treasurer
on the fact of the reported returns
but the probabilities point to the nomination of his chief rival, Assemblyman A. H. Dahl of Westby.

Not So Heavy.
The returns from the German democratic counties along the lake shore are disappointing to the interests of William H. Froehlich for secretary of state. In Ozaukee county, where Admiral Froehlich was expected to run strong it develops that the various fierce contests for nominations on the county ticket caused the German democrat to stay at home and cast their

POLITICAL INTEREST NOT TO LAG IN COMING WEEK

Many Events Of Importance Will Occur--Affairs Of Other Nations Also Scheduled.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—Though there will be no Bryan home-coming to culminate the coming week will not be entirely barren of political interest.

On Tuesday the Independent League is called to meet in convention in New York city to name William R. Hearst for governor of New York.

The same day the republicans of Ohio will assemble in state convention at Dayton to name candidates for the state offices to be filed at the November election. The indications are that Roosevelt is to be the issue of the convention. It is believed that Senators Foraker and Dick are inclined to prevent the convention indorsing the President in too strong terms. On the other hand the President's followers have taken up the gauge of battle and insist that the President be approved in plain language.

On Tuesday the democrats of Connecticut are to hold their convention and Mayor Charles F. Thayer of Norwich appears to be the leading candidate for the gubernatorial nomination. The convention will endorse Bryan for the presidency.

Republicans of Colorado will meet in Denver to name a slate ticket for the state. Still another event of political interest will be the election in Maine
on Monday. So far as the state ticket is concerned the election of the republican candidates is, of course, assured. Principal interest centers in the result of Congressman Littlefield's fight for re-election in the Second district, where President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor has been making hot speeches against him. The result of the congressional contests in Maine will be generally regarded as some indication of the way the congressional elections throughout the country will go in November.

An event of next Friday that undoubtedly will attract the attention of the country will be the unveiling of the McKinley memorial at Columbus, Ohio. Mrs. Nicholas Longworth has accepted an invitation to unveil the statue and the principal address will be delivered by Judge Day of the supreme court and Senator Daniel of Virginia.

The National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, successor to the New England Cotton Manufacturers
association, will hold a two days
meeting at Lake Champlain.

Another meeting of general interest will be the annual convention of the National Prison Association, which is to assemble at Albany, N. Y., the last of the week.

Interest in naval circles will center
in the graduation exercises at the Annapolis academy next Wednesday.
The embassy admirals will receive their diplomas from the hands of Secretary Bonaparte.

Representative Williamson of Oregon placed on file the clerk's office of the supreme court of the United States the necessary papers which will bring his land fraud case before that court for further hearing.

WHEN THE FALL STYLES ARE DISPLAYED.
No. 1.—It's funny how a young man will offer his best girl the earth if she will marry him—
No. 2.—And how after they are married the same young man wants to drag his wife like this past a show window displaying the fall styles.

LaFollette Will Decide His Allegiance
Question When He Learns
of Platform.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Sept. 8.—Senator La Follette broke his silence today concerning the defeat of his candidature. I form Sept. 25, then declare whether or not he would support the ticket.

BRAGG NOT INVITED TO REVIEW REGIMENT

Aged Commander of the Civil War
Regiment Says He Is Not Supposed to Inspect Troops.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Fond du Lac, Wis., Sept. 8.—It is probable that the second regiment will not hold a parade tonight. General Edward S. Bragg said today that he had received no invitation to inspect them. "I have no uniform.
Neither have I a horse. Even if I had
I could not ride it," he said.

GERMANS WIN FIRST YACHTING VICTORY

Wannensee Took Race in Roosevelt

first victory for the Germans.

YOUNG HUSTLING KILLED BY ELEVATOR

Son of Wealthy Milwaukee Brewer
Is Crushed to Death in His Father's Brewery.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

was running the lever.

Kansas State Fair Topple, Kas., Sept. 8.—Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Kansas state fair Monday. Every de- partment of the exhibition is well filled with choice exhibits this year and the outlook is most promising for a successful week. The racing program is the best of its kind ever offered in Kansas.

CAMBRIDGE WINS IN THE BIG SHELL RACE

American Crew Loses Race by Two Lengths on the Thames River Course.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Pitney, Sept. 8.—By the decisive distance of two lengths Cambridge won the great international boat race
today, stalling off the steady powerful stroke of the Harvard's desperate sports. The light blues had the advantage in the choice of stations,
which gave them at least a length to the good. They got away ahead and maintained the lead. It was a pretty race throughout. Both boats got away cleanly amid the deafening roar of the multitude. Cambridge went a tremendous pace, 42 strokes per minute, at the start, gradually reducing the rate, while Harvard hardly rowed 35.

Story of Race.
Pitney, Sept. 8, p. m.—All the members of the Harvard crew had an excellent night's sleep and awoke this morning feeling ready for the race
of their lives and confident of success. Cambridge is no less satisfied to be able to carry off the aquatic palm. The weather conditions are ideal and the crews were put out early for practice. Early in the afternoon the banks of the river were lined with people and it promised to be the greatest outpouring that ever witnessed a boat race here. Most of the betting is done at or near eye figures.

The Start.
Pitney, Eng., Sept. 8.—The tide is very late which may delay the start.
The wind is blowing light. Cambridge won the toss for choice and took the Surrey side of the river which is calculated to give them the advantage.

Harvard Afloat.
Pitney, Sept. 8.—The Harvard crew was afloat first. The race started at 4:28.

Cambridge Ahead.
Cambridge took a slight lead at the start and was leading by a length
at Beverly Brook.

Still Ahead.
At Crabtree Cambridge was leading by 2 1/4 lengths.

Harvard Gains.
At Hammersmith Bridge Cambridge
was a length and a quarter ahead.

Easy Victory.
Cambridge wins by two lengths.

Official Time.
The official time is 15 minutes and sixteen seconds.

Sullivan of Illinois.

arrested on the charge of conducting a fraudulent investment scheme through the mails. Complaints come from all parts of the country for

THOUSANDS LOST BY BLIGHT ON THE SACCHARINE BEET

"Epidemic" of "Fever" is Drying up
Rock County Crops and Reducing Tonnage.
Damage that may cost the farmers
thousands of dollars and greatly reduce the amount of sugar turned out at the local refinery this year, is being done in the beet fields of the county by a black blight that has made its appearance within the past ten days. The blight affects the leaves in an odd manner, drying and shriveling them. As yet the extent of the loss cannot be estimated.

NOTABLE GRAND DUKE IS EIGHTY; BIG CELEBRATION

Baden's Ruler Eighty Years Old--Delegation
From Pittsburg Will Participate
In Festivities.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Berlin, Sept. 8.—Advices from Carlsruhe state that preparations on a most elaborate scale have been made for tomorrow's celebration of the eightieth anniversary of the reigning grand duke of Baden, Frederick I. The celebration will be general throughout the duchy. The advices further state that the Grand Duke is particularly pleased and gratified by the visit of a delegation from Pittsburg bringing with them a message of congratulation from the Grand Duke's former subjects now resident in America.

The Grand Duke of Baden is in a way one of the most notable figures among the rulers of Europe. Few people have played a more important role, not only in the constitution of the German empire, but also in the maintenance of its integrity. It was he who, as one of the independent sov-eigns of Southern Germany, conducted all the negotiations that led to the election of King William of Prussia as German emperor in 1870. And it is he, too, who since then has been the principal factor in smoothing away all those many differences, some of them of a very acute character, that have arisen between Prussia and the other states of the confederation.

It is something of a coincidence that the present week marked the fiftieth year of the reign of the Grand Duke. He owes his throne in the first place to the insanity of his elder brother, who died under restraint after being deposed, and secondly to the romance in connection with the son of the Grand Duchess Stephanie of Baden. Stephanie, an adopted daughter of the first Napoleon, was a devout Roman Catholic and a French-woman by birth. She bore to her husband five children—three daughters and two sons. One of the sons died in infancy. Concerning the other son there always has been a mystery. She herself went down the grave firmly convinced that her little boy had been stolen by the adherents of the now reigning and Lutheran branch of the house of Baden. True, an infant was carried to the grave with all the honors due to the remains of a little prince of the blood. But the Grand Duchess always insisted that the little corpse was not that of her child, but was that of a little boy who, moribund, had been substituted by her enemies for her own healthy offspring.

Years afterward a young man was found fainting at the gates of the Nuremberg, and was taken to the police station. He was entirely unable to communicate with anybody,
having no power of speech and no acquaintance with either reading or writing. He fell into charitable hands and gradually was taught and educated, whereupon he by degrees became able to give some account of himself.
From this it appeared that he had been kept like a wild beast in a dark room. This existence continued until the time he could remember until the day he was placed, blindfolded, in a cart and driven to the spot at the gates of Nuremberg where he was subsequently found. The memories which he recalled of his childhood were of such a character as to give rise to the belief that he was no other than the missing son of the Grand Duchess of Stephanie. A meeting was arranged for them, the mother being convinced that the youth was her missing son. But within a few hours of the time appointed for the interview he was mortally stabbed by some unknown individual.

WHAT POLITICAL POWER HAS ORGANIZED LABOR?

Question That Will Be Answered By Election
In Maine Monday--Campaign
Closes Tonight.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Augusta, Me., Sept. 8.—The Maine campaign closes tonight with speaking in nearly every town of any importance in the state. The election will be on Monday. As the Maine election will afford the people of the country the first real line they have on the strength and effect of organized labor in politics, all parties have put forth their utmost efforts to make the best possible showing.

The republicans do not attempt to hide their concern over the result in the second congressional district, where President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor has been working with his coat off in an effort to defeat Congressman Charles E. Littlefield and thereby make an example of him for other congressmen who have not taken what Mr.
Gompers considers the right stand in relation to proposed labor legislation. To offset the efforts of Mr. Gompers and save the scalp of Congressman Littlefield the republican national committee has sent into the district a number of national reputations among them Speaker Cannon, Senator Beveridge of Indiana and Secretary Taft.

If the four congressmen from Maine
are re-elected by normal majorities, it will be assumed as a matter of course that the rest of the country is safely anchored to the republican moorings, and as Maine goes, so goes the Union. That is the view the republicans will take. They will say that Maine has endorsed Roosevelt and all his works, and it will stimulate every other district to do the same.

But if the majorities of the four Maine congressmen are cut down, or if, even better still from the democratic standpoint, one at least of them should be defeated, democratic campaign stock will go up with a rush.

As regards the state ticket national issues have cut little or no figure in the campaign. The great almost the only issue this year is again the liquor question, which for seventy years has been a troublesome factor in Maine politics. A pioneer in the temperance movement, it is today a

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT
The test of the new primary law in Wisconsin brings to the surface two or three facts that are worthy of note. The claim was made by friends of the law that under the caucus and convention system the will of the people was thwarted by party bosses and machine politicians, and that the new law endowed every man an independent voter with power to act untrammelled.
It was supposed that the voter would so thoroughly appreciate the new conditions that he would be enthusiastic on primary election day, but how was it? Less than half the vote of the state was represented, and this in spite of the fact that a lively campaign was waged for weeks before the election.
This goes to show that the average citizen is not a politician, and that he takes but little interest in the men who aspire to office. He recognizes the fact that all of the candidates on the ticket which he would vote are men of whom he possesses but little, if any, knowledge, and he very naturally feels indifferent.
It is safe to say that if Senator La Follette had kept out of the state the vote at the primary election would have been lighter than at any previous election ever held under the caucus system.
The average reformer is a slouter for the independence of the masses. He is afraid that in some way they will become contaminated by party organization or poisoned by colored oleomargarine, so he proposes to disrupt the party and kill the "oleo" in the interests of humanity.
Independence of thought on many questions is a snare and delusion. The majority of the people who belong to the church accept the creed without reading it. They are willing that questions of theology shall be settled by the preacher and questions of finance by the deacons or trustees.
Men invest their money in stocks of every conceivable sort without thought or knowledge. They lack the independence to say "No" when the gold brick label is so conspicuous that a blind man ought to see it.
They imagine that they are great financiers when the fact is well established that the successful financiers in any community can be counted without much mental strain.
One of the arguments used by Senator La Follette, among his friends, when advocating the passage of the law, was that it would perpetuate men in office for a lifetime, and with the state civil service annex it was supposed to accomplish just that result, but the law is a disappointment in this respect. It might have been different but for the fight in the ranks of the faithful. The next legislature will amend the travesty, so that its most intimate friends will not recognize it, and the amendments will not be of the "Mary Ann" order.
The weakness of the law is in the fact that it destroys party organization and this is a fatal weakness. The average voter desires to vote intelligently and this he is unable to do under the primary law.
Whatever may be his political creed he depends upon party organization and leadership for intelligent action, and in doing so sacrifices neither independence nor manhood.
The platform of a party is a declaration of principles and purposes, and has always been regarded as important. The primary law ignores this fact and says to successful candidates, "Fix up any kind of a platform you want and it will fill the bill." That may be good reform politics, but it lacks the first elements of common sense.
The renomination of Congressman Cooper, in the light of sober second thought, is not a matter of surprise. The only sensible argument that could be used against him was that he has held the office for a long time and ought to be satisfied to quit and give some other man a chance.
The Philippine tariff bugaboo was a good thing to talk about and doubtless some people believed that Wisconsin beet and tobacco were threatened with annihilation, but the fact remains that if the Philippine tariff was all removed Wisconsin would never know the difference.
It would be gratifying to Rock County to have a representative in congress and the many friends of Mr. Nolan would have been pleased had he won it, but that was not possible this year.

The Gazette opposed Mr. Cooper because he went back on his friends. For years he was allied with the conservative republicans of the state, and they honored him with loyal support, but he forsook them at a time when they needed him and joined the ranks of the enemy. This was good reason for opposing his nomination this year. There was neither post-office ambition, nor disappointment connected with the policy pursued, for the paper is not in the market for office of any kind.
The primary law nominated Mr. Cooper and defeated Mr. Lenroot, or rather Senator La Follette, for every one knew who would be governor had Lenroot succeeded.
The people who took enough interest to vote were disgusted with the law and the defeated, as well as the successful candidates, are poorer, if not wiser men.
PRESS COMMENT.
Cherries Were—Awhile Back.
Oshkosh Northwestern: Pumpkin pies will soon be ripe.
"Forgetting the Campaign."
Milwaukee News: The people said "scat!" and the garrulous trinity of nest-befoulers vamoosed.
"Federal Crowding."
Chicago Tribune: Senator La Follette admits with some reluctance that there is a prejudice in Wisconsin also against federal crowding.
Won't it be Great?
Oshkosh Northwestern: What an inspiring sight it will be to see Senator La Follette on the stump working for the re-election of Governor Davidson.
It Stays Put.
St. Louis Globe-Democrat: One look in the Panama canal will require over 90,000 carloads of cement. But the age of cement has arrived, and it is an article that stays put.
Switchman Bryan Confident.
Exchange: "Mr. Bryan's railway ownership views," says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, "have sidetracked a good many democrats." Mr. Bryan has no doubt of his ability to switch them back.
He Thanks "All."
Oshkosh Northwestern: Do you notice that Governor Davidson is particular to thank "all" republicans who gave him their support in getting the nomination? No wonder that Senator La Follette objected to Governor "Yim."
Prospect of Near Company Dismissal.
Madison Democrat: It will strike dismay into thousands of poor homes, that are crowded to see Kerosene for heating, cooking and lighting, to know that Mr. Rockefeller announces that he intends to "get closer" to the people.
McGovern Jarred.
Milwaukee Sentinel: As Mr. Opper would say, if you had been elected district attorney by 10,000 plurality, had been called a "second folk" and had been "mentioned" for governor, and then should be defeated for re-nomination—"wouldn't that jar you?"
Limbering Up For a Jawgo.
Evening Wisconsin: Battling Nelson is not talking as much as before his fight with Gans. "Jimmie" Britt, who is to meet the colored champion, is limbering up for the reporters. The pugilist who does not promise to knock his antagonist's "block" off is a rarity.
No Bandbox Army Wanted.
El Paso Herald: Ours is a workaday little army, given to sleeping out doors occasionally, climbing hills, fording rivers, and marching around through the dust, and it is doubtful if all the British military tailors extant can give it the prim, bandbox aspect of European troops.
The Snatching of the Plum.
Milwaukee Journal: La Follette was supposed to have dangled the senatorship before "Uncle Ike," Connor, Hoard and Cooper. All of them were against Lenroot except Cooper, and he was as strong as Lenroot, but he was snatched. La Follette's snatching of the senatorial plum made a lot of his followers wonder as to his devotion to principle and a lot more of them to suspect his promises.
Raising Sugar-cane up North.
Marquette Eagle-Star: A new industry is being developed in Marinette county and from present prospects it will be an important one in the near future. The inauguration of a plant for making cane sugar syrup at Harmony brings to light the fact that a number of farmers planted sugar cane this year and have a fine crop as the result. Only about twenty acres were given to the product this season but this will be many times doubled next season if the farmers make the expected profit. It is said that cane is growing well and that 150 to 200 gallons of syrup will be obtained from each acre planted.
Charms of Human Twins.
New York Mail: There is nothing more charming in all creation than a pair of human twins. Did anyone ever see an ugly pair of twins? Were there ever deformed twins or rickety twins? How thoughtful reader, call to your mind at the present moment? Did you ever have a quarrelsome twin in your acquaintance? There have been, assuredly, twins given to mischief in partnership, but they have almost invariably been agreed in their mischievousness. As everybody knows, twins are always inseparable in sympathy. They are always liked and admired. The world breaks into a smile of welcome when they appear. Hearts that are hard of access to single applicants open easily to a pretty pair of twins. Perhaps it is for this reason, as a reflector of the world's liking for them, that amiability is usually the badge of a twin.

The Filipino Problem.
Chicago Record-Herald: In his speech of Tuesday night Mr. Bryan referred to his visit to the Philippines and declared that he had come back from the islands to say that the Filipinos are not only entitled to their independence upon the ground of natural right, but because they have the capacity to attend to their own business and do not need a carpet-bag government to look after them.
At the same time he extols the work that the carpet-bag government has done in the matter of education. What he attempts to do is to use the system that has been created against those who have created it by citing it for proof of the intelligence of the natives.
Secretary Taft, who has had much more experience in the islands than Mr. Bryan, agrees with him that the schools have made great progress, and that they are a boon to the inhabitants. But he holds that there must be a long period of probation before it will be safe to grant them independence.
In Tyrant Business, Himself.
Chicago Chronicle: Boss La Follette rode into power by preaching a crusade against "federal despotism." He succeeded where little Dick Yates of Illinois failed—a fact which is not particularly creditable to the intelligence of the people of Wisconsin, especially the republicans among them.
Mr. La Follette was more jealous of state autonomy than John C. Calhoun dreamed of being. According to him a man who was elected United States senator from Wisconsin became, ipso facto, an outlander and expatriate, and for such a man to evince activity or even express opinions in Wisconsin politics was at once tyranny and impertinence.
If Mr. La Follette could have had his way the Wisconsin senators would have been kept out of the state during their terms of office. By thus preaching resistance to tyrants Mr. La Follette got himself into the United States senate.
But the moment he got there he threw overboard all his previous policies. He went into the tyrant business himself. He shook a minatory finger at the republicans of Wisconsin and ordered them to nominate men whom he should select.
If ever there was a typical, whip-cracking, bulldozing political boss it was Robert M. La Follette, who had got his job by denouncing whipcracking and bulldozing.
Strange Contradictions of Bryan.
Sheboygan Journal: There is less talk now about William Jennings Bryan sweeping the country at the presidential election two years hence. Talk to this effect has grown less frequent in proportion to the number of speeches Mr. Bryan has made since his return, and the longer he has been in his native land.
Mr. Bryan's speeches are in strange contrast with those principles of self-government and democracy which he preaches. In his speeches in Chicago on Tuesday he practically declared that he would be the dictator of his party or have nothing to do with it. He laid down the law to the Illinois democrats and told them whom they should choose and whom they should bar out. He did not explain how or where he derived his authority.
Mr. Bryan's speeches ever since he landed at New York have been calculated to stir up a well known faculty of his party. His well known faculty of saying ill-considered things does not appear to have been changed by his trip abroad. He has not grown tactful or more discreet by contact with people of other nations.
If Mr. Bryan believes in government ownership of railroads it is his privilege. A great many democrats do not. They and Mr. Bryan know there are practically insurmountable obstacles to government ownership of railroads in America, and that it would take years to acquire and operate even one railroad. It was not necessary to come out flatly in favor of government ownership when he knew government ownership could not be brought about in a dozen presidential terms.
CURRENT ITEMS.
May Go to Prison: Larry Sullivan of Beloit who is at present occupying a cell in the county jail, was brought into court on Sept. 25 when an attempt will be made to send him to Waupun for habitual drunkenness.
Burglar Scare at Rich Home: A light in the residence at the corner of Court and Harrison streets formerly occupied by Mrs. E. E. Rich but vacant for some months past, moved neighbors to summon the police last evening. The officers could find no trace of any possible night prowlers, save the mysterious light.
Has an Accident: Herr Fess, who does the thrilling bicycle act in Ringling Bros' circus, was injured in perling Bros' circus at Dubuque. He formed the feat of incline all right, but came down the air he was thrown backward by striking a rope carelessly left in the way by one of his assistants. He struck on the side of his neck, which partly broke his fall. Otherwise he might have been killed. He will be laid up for several days.
State Evangelist Speaks: L. A. McIntyre will speak to men at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow at 3 p. m. All men are urged to be present. These meetings are characterized by the practical discussions, free speech and a policy open to all men. The motto of the coming year in this Christian work is to develop the men who take interest in the men's meeting as voluntary speakers and to think for themselves as they speak. It is hoped by the management that special interest will be the result.
Marriage Licenses: Applications for marriage licenses have been filed by Roy Oscar Ellis of Chicago and Ethel May Hall of Beloit. Herman S. Blanchard of Chicago Heights and Florence Howard of Beloit.

The fees will also be considerably larger and an applicant will have 45 days to reside in the country five years before he can obtain citizenship.

PORTION OF THE OFFICIAL COUNT
COMPLETED TODAY SHOWS INTERESTING RESULTS.
AYLWARD BEAT MERTON 234
And Cunningham Had 209 Lead Over Stewart—Republican Totals Cannot Be Fought Until Monday.
Discrepancies having been discovered in the reports of the inspectors of the town of Porter, the tally sheets will have to be brought in on Monday and the official total county vote on the republican candidates will not be known until that time. The election inspectors have occasioned very few minutes to speak impatiently and harshly of the voters who in a spirit of levity took occasion to fill in the blanks for coroner, county surveyor and committeemen, with all manner of names. "There ought to be jail sentences for those who indulge in such horse-play," said one of them feelingly this morning. Thus far only the official totals for the democratic, social democratic, and prohibition tickets have been obtained. They are set forth below.
Democratic Ticket.
In the gubernatorial contest Aylward received 235 votes and Merton, 67. The total democratic vote cast at the primaries in the county was therefore 302. Bienski received 202 votes for lieutenant governor and O'Meara, 131. Noel had 312 for secretary of state and Andrew Jenson received 220 for state treasurer. Luckert, for attorney general had 208 and Necas for insurance commissioner 278.
J. J. Cunningham received 200 votes for representative of the first district in congress and Calvin Stewart received 57. For the nomination as assemblyman from the first district John Sherman of Fulton received 88 votes. There was no nominee on the printed ticket for the second district, but George McKee, P. J. Mount, Edward Connell and James Pluh, each received one complimentary vote and the authorities of Madison will have to determine by lot which shall be the nominee. Matt F. Lathens of the town of Little received 31 votes in the third district.
W. J. Schumacher of Edgerton received 200 votes for county clerk; W. P. Christman of Clinton, 231 for county treasurer; Ira W. Jones of the town of Beloit, 187 for sheriff, and Edward L. Newald, 2 votes for the same nomination; P. Sheridan, 3 votes, and Walt Taylor, A. B. Connors, Joe Donahue, Mason Holmes, and a host of others one vote each, for coroner; E. M. Carey of Beloit, 206 for clerk of court; Claude J. Hendricks of Janesville, 287 for district attorney; P. J. McFarlane of Johnson, 268 for register of deeds; and George Sherman and L. H. Towne, two votes each, and Tom Connors, Hugh Joyce, Dan Powers and C. V. Kerch, one vote each, for county surveyor.

Social Democratic Ticket.
The social democrats of Rock county cast 48 votes for their gubernatorial candidate, W. R. Gaylord, which was three more than the prohibitionists managed to muster. William Kaufmann for lieutenant governor received 46, Charles V. Schmidt for secretary of state, 46; Joseph Amann for state treasurer, 44; and the balance of the state ticket about the same number. Messrs. Hill had 33 congressional electors; furthermore by 30 votes. There were no votes for assemblyman from the first district, but in the second John R. Horn of Janesville received 13 and in the third P. J. Harvey, 1. E. Miller received one for sheriff. John Rood, 1 vote for district attorney; Robert Caldwell, 1 vote for county surveyor.

Prohibition Ticket.
The Rock county prohibitionists gave E. L. Eason for governor, 42 votes; A. P. Fehlandt received 40 for lieutenant governor; J. E. Clayton, 48 for secretary of state; and the balance of the state ticket from 40 to 13. Everett Townsend received 1 vote for representative of the first district in congress; Rev. Thomas North of Milton, 10 votes for assemblyman from the first district; W. H. H. Macdonald, 1 vote for assemblyman from the third; Mr. Macdonald will have to change his place of residence if he intends to accept the nomination. For sheriff one vote each was tendered Charles Cressly, A. C. Cook, and J. W. Teeter.

Whitehead Favors Move.
It has been suggested that the legislature at its next session consider the matter and Senator John M. Whitehead was asked for an opinion, being not only a member of the legislature but also of the Historical Association. He said: "The plan to preserve the old capital building presents many interesting suggestions. I have not considered it sufficiently to express an opinion as to how the plan should be carried out, but the building is historic and the plan is entitled to careful thought." Horace McElroy, another member of the state society, said: "As a landmark and historic relic the old building should be preserved. Wisconsin has little history and all memories of it should be kept. In Pennsylvania all the old landmarks are carefully and properly maintained."
Nolan Thinks Differently.
T. S. Nolan took a view different entirely from the others. He said: "I recently visited 'Old Belmont' and inquired of the residents why nothing had ever been done. They told me the owner was about eighty years of age and refused to sell despite the offer made a few years ago by the Wisconsin State Fair association. The organization placed a good price on the matter and offered to build a modern and model cow barn and pig pen. The time will come when the old capital will be for sale and I should think it would be a nice thing for an attraction at the fair, not being, it is feasible to preserve it at its present location."

QUESTIONS OF PRESERVING OLD WISCONSIN STATE HOUSE.
NOW USED AS COW STABLE.
Members of Wisconsin Historical Society Interviewed—Some Enthusiastic.
In a talk before the students of the Plattville Normal school Rev. Jenkins Lloyd Jones, former pastor of the Janesville Unitarian church and now a divine in Chicago, rated the people of Wisconsin for allowing the building used as the first state house to go to ruin and be the housing of cows and pigs. The attack on the badger respect for landmarks was made immediately after Mr. Jones had visited the building at Leslie, known as "Old Belmont," six miles above the present station of Belmont. The matter was taken up by the Milwaukee press yesterday morning and prominent Wisconsin people have expressed their views on an action toward the preservation of this relic of early Wisconsin government.

Building Old and Decayed.
Governor Davidson and Senator La Follette have spoken in favor of having the state buy and keep the old building and site. Milwaukee members of the Wisconsin Historical Society have been aroused and will bring the matter before the organization at its next annual meeting. Some Janesville people, members of the society largely, were interviewed on the matter today. A. A. Jackson is a curator or vice-president of the society and when asked for his view wished not to be quoted. He had not thoroughly considered the matter and said that there was much to be thought of before any move be made. He suggested that the structure, being frame and old, could not be permanently saved; that its location was remote and if the building be moved the historical interest would suffer.

No Place For a Relic.
Francis Grant, another member, spoke in a similar vein. He said: "Of course the old state house is a relic of interest to all and everyone who comes to see it. It is a relic of the building and the pictures I have seen of it, it's not much architectural beauty and is located in an out of the way place where it could be seen only by making a pilgrimage. There would be many practical difficulties in caring for it as a state property and should it be removed to the university grounds at Madison or some similar place, the historical value would be destroyed." Mr. Matheson, also a member, said: "It would seem advisable to purchase and preserve this building as a historical relic."
Whitehead Favors Move.
It has been suggested that the legislature at its next session consider the matter and Senator John M. Whitehead was asked for an opinion, being not only a member of the legislature but also of the Historical Association. He said: "The plan to preserve the old capital building presents many interesting suggestions. I have not considered it sufficiently to express an opinion as to how the plan should be carried out, but the building is historic and the plan is entitled to careful thought." Horace McElroy, another member of the state society, said: "As a landmark and historic relic the old building should be preserved. Wisconsin has little history and all memories of it should be kept. In Pennsylvania all the old landmarks are carefully and properly maintained."

DEFENDANT WAS ARRESTED
Plaintiff Charges Criminal Conversation and Asks for Heavy Damages.
One of the most sensational cases brought in the Rock county circuit court for years has been filed in the suit of Brown versus Fleck. The plaintiff and defendant in the action are both prominent Janesville merchants and the summons and complaint which is filed with the clerk of the court contains more sensational matter than any suit that has been begun in years. In it Mr. B. M. Brown begins action in tort against W. M. Fleck, charging him with criminal conversation with his wife and alienation of his wife's affections. Is Voluminous.
The complaint is voluminous and contains among other things copies of letters alleged to have been written by the defendant, W. M. Fleck, to the plaintiff's wife. These letters, in the neighborhood of twenty-five and consist of copies of long letters and short notes and are alleged to be full of burning devotion. Some are addressed to Mrs. Brown in Janesville and some to her in Chicago.
Under the tort action for criminal conversation Mr. Fleck was arrested August 31 and placed under $2,000 bonds, which were signed by Brodhead parties. This precaution was taken, it is alleged, to prevent his leaving the state and jurisdiction of the court. In his action for the alienation of his wife's affections, Mr. Brown asks for a large sum—twenty-five thousand dollars—for damages. He alleges that W. M. Fleck by methodical means has caused his wife's affections to be alienated from him and caused her to bring an action for divorce and that before meeting Mr. Fleck the plaintiff's wife was a true wife and a virtuous woman.

These letters, in the neighborhood of twenty-five and consist of copies of long letters and short notes and are alleged to be full of burning devotion. Some are addressed to Mrs. Brown in Janesville and some to her in Chicago.
Under the tort action for criminal conversation Mr. Fleck was arrested August 31 and placed under $2,000 bonds, which were signed by Brodhead parties. This precaution was taken, it is alleged, to prevent his leaving the state and jurisdiction of the court. In his action for the alienation of his wife's affections, Mr. Brown asks for a large sum—twenty-five thousand dollars—for damages. He alleges that W. M. Fleck by methodical means has caused his wife's affections to be alienated from him and caused her to bring an action for divorce and that before meeting Mr. Fleck the plaintiff's wife was a true wife and a virtuous woman.

He has sent word to brothers residing in Toronto, Canada, and Detroit, Mich., and it is likely that they will come to his aid and at least sign bail bonds. In the meantime he is not faring badly at the county jail, as some of his meals are brought in to him and he is allowed the freedom of the corridor.

SUPPLY OF LABOR CONTINUES SHORT

CAUSES DELAY IN HARVESTING AND RESTRICTS OUTPUT.

FARM WORK LIMITS TRADE

Tillers of the Soil Are Too Busy at Present to Visit the Stores, Except for Current Supplies.

New York, Sept. 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: Money market irregularities had no ill effect on legitimate business, and prices of securities quickly rallied when gold imports were arranged. Scarcity of labor is a much more important factor influencing restricting production of factories and causing delays in harvesting of crops, while structural work is also retarded. Fall jobbing trade is making progress, shipping departments forwarding goods as rapidly as possible. Leading centers are crowded by interior buyers, who place liberal orders, especially for wearing apparel. Quotations are well maintained and some improvement is noted in collections. A seasonable increase appears in retail trade at most points, although urgency of work on the farms limits business in those sections.

Main Factors in Prosperity.

Wholesome reports from the iron and steel industry and expectation of large crops have developed a tone of confidence in the commercial world that makes the outlook bright and encourages new undertakings. Resumption of work at window glass factories has been deferred because of the large stock on hand, but in most industries there is more complaint on account of inadequate supplies. Movement of crops adds to the railway congestion, and earnings in the month of August were 14.5 per cent. larger than last year. Foreign commerce at this port for the last week shows an increase of $2,327,870 in exports and a loss of $279,819 in imports as compared with the same period of 1905.

Buyers Are Conservative.

Textile markets still show evidences of conservatism among buyers, although mills are busy and confidence in the future is not impaired. Only a seasonable amount of new business has appeared at New England footwear markets, but the tone is no less firm.

Failures this week in the United States as reported are 133, against 170 last week, 167 the preceding week, and 180 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 8, against 14 last week, 34 the preceding week, and 23 last year.

Bradstreet's Report.

Trade and industry display more vigor, sales, shipments and outputs increase, and later improve as cooler weather sets a period to the vacation season and fall activities become more pronounced. State fairs, special trade displays and low rate excursions help to attract buyers, who reflect confidence born of good crop returns and faith in a heavy future trade. Jobbers and wholesalers report business active, buying free and shipments taxing facilities. Railroads return the same report as to business offering, and there are rather more evidences of strain to operating facilities by the heavy movements of crops, merchandise and fuel. Crop reports, though more variable, are in the main favorable. The essential soundness of mercantile affairs is evidenced by the August failure total being the lightest in any month for seven years, the highest individual examples of financial dishonesty swell liabilities of insolvent concerns. Collections are rather better than of late, western and northwestern reports being most favorable.

BALTIMORE TO HAVE GREAT HOME-COMING

GALVESTON GAY ON FLOOD ANNIVERSARY

Has Regrown Completely and More Properly in Six Years—No Repetition of Disaster.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Galveston, Tex., Sept. 8.—It was six years ago today, September 8, 1900, that the disaster occurred which for the time being wiped the city of Galveston off the map. In the evening of that day the entire island on which the city is situated was under water and more than 5,000 lives had been blotted out. Like the present year, September 8, in 1900 fell on Saturday and the first news of the awful disaster reached the outside world not until Sunday morning and it was some days later before the full extent of the calamity became generally known. In the six years intervening the city has fully recovered itself. A mammoth sea wall, one of the greatest pieces of work of its kind ever accomplished, protects the city from a repetition of the disaster, while as a further precaution the level of the entire city has been elevated from six to twenty feet.

FISH HATCHERIES DOING GREAT WORK

NEARLY TWO BILLION FRY OUT. PUT FOR LAST YEAR.

WIDE FIELD IS COVERED

Artificial and Natural Lakes Are Filled for Rich and Poor with Everything from Perch to the Luscious Toothsome Shad.

Washington, Sept. 8.—A preliminary statement made by George H. Bowers, United States commissioner of fisheries, to the secretary of the department of commerce and labor of the operations of his bureau for the past fiscal year, says that the aggregate output of fry from the commission's hatcheries during the year was only a trifle less than 2,000,000,000. The actual figures were 1,931,854,609, an increase of nearly 200,000,000 over the output of 1905.

"The fish cultural operations of the government," the statement points out, "appeal to the tastes and satisfy the needs of all sorts and conditions of men. For the people of the New England coast, where from the earliest colonial days the rich harvests of the sea have been gathered by hardy fishermen, cod, flounders and lobsters have been produced in immense numbers, and nowadays when one of these is caught it is very likely to bear Uncle Sam's hall mark if a person only knows where to look for it. The very successful operations of the new marine hatchery in Maine will do much to keep up the abundance of fish in these waters."

Fears Shad May Disappear.

Millions of young yellow perch, white perch, rock fish and shad have been liberated in the streams of the eastern seaboard from the government hatcheries. The only unsatisfactory feature of this work cited in the statement is the condition of the shad fishery, about which Commissioner Bowers sounds a note of alarm. So long as the supply of shad eggs for hatching purposes is ample, the maintenance of the fishery is assured; but under the conditions which have been becoming more and more pronounced the run of fish for spawning purposes has been practically wiped out in many of the important streams, and unless the state promptly takes some action by which a fair percentage of the shad may reach their spawning grounds, the future of this fish is gloomy.

Saves Fish in Great Lakes.

On the great lakes the plant of white fish, lake trout and wall-eyed pike has been commensurate with the operations of an army of net and seine fishermen, who would long ago have exhausted these inland seas had not nature's efforts been supplemented by artificial propagation.

The waters of the interior have been replenished with what are regarded as the most desirable indigenous fishes, and each year large numbers of large-mouth and small-mouth bass are planted. Innumerable small lakes and ponds, many of them artificial, have been stocked, and these often constitute the only source of food fish for the community. Under the bureau's policy, the small farmer, the owner of private reserves, the sportsman's club may have waters in which they are interested planted with the most suitable fishes; and even the humblest negro in the cotton fields or sugar plantations in the south may have delivered for his own pond or creek a broodstock of gamy sunfish or pebbled catfish which will soon give a good account of themselves and provide food and fun for the entire family.

Salmon Most Important.

The cultivation of the Pacific salmon affects, directly or indirectly, according to Commissioner Bowers, more people than any other branch of the work, when in addition to the multitude of fishermen and factory hands, the millions of consumers of fresh, smoked and canned salmon are taken into consideration.

The quantity of salmon eggs taken and hatched by the bureau at its stations on the western streams was last year over 1,400 bushels. The year was marked by the inception of governmental salmon culture in Alaska, through the completion and operation of the new hatchery in the southeastern part of the territory. Mr. Bowers, who has recently returned from Alaska is pleased with the outlook for successful salmon propagation on the part of the government, and has determined on the island of Agognak as the best site for another hatchery soon to be built by the bureau, the money for this purpose having already been appropriated.

DEATH IN VAT OF HOT WATER

Laborer's Greasy Shoes Cause Him to Slip Into Boiling Liquid.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 8.—John Mielke, laborer at the plant of the Railway Steel company, is dead after having been parboiled in a vat of hot water Thursday. Mielke's shoes had become greasy from walking about the engine room and as he was passing the vat, which received the boiling water from the cylinders of the engine, he slipped and fell headlong into the scalding liquid.

He was entirely immersed, being practically parboiled from head to foot and for five hours suffered most intense agony until death brought relief.

Norfolk, Va., was selected as the meeting place for the next annual convention by the National Association of Spanish-American War Nurses.

CHICAGO'S BRAIN KITCHEN.

Elaborate Dietaries and Thoughtful Games Furnish "Fit" Club Women.

A "brain kitchen" which has undertaken to supply literary dietaries and thoughtful games to fit club women on the 14th street plan opened its doors for inspection in Chicago recently, says a Chicago dispatch to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

"We have undertaken to furnish the club women with papers on all subjects," said the chief chef, "We are selling a long list of them. The club women should not sacrifice their health for the club. We make it possible for her to fulfill both obligations."

"Do you suppose any of the club women will have the nerve to buy their speeches and palm them off as their own?" she was asked.

"Do 17" demanded the chief chef, speaking below her breath as not to disturb the throbbing brains. "Why do you suppose I can hear?"

The chief chef then explained that she would make a specialty of short orders, served out of stock at a moment's notice to club women who are "up against it." Written to order essays will cost more.

"You needn't laugh," the chief chef snapped. "We supply men as well as club women, and in fact, we have a large number of men customers."

On the west wall of the little room stands a huge cabinet filled with carefully typewritten manuscripts, arranged alphabetically according to the subject matter.

"Travelogues," with stereoscopic views of the countries "written up," bring the highest prices. They may be bought for from $10 to $100, according to the prominence of the country traveled. A "travelogue" on England can be purchased for $10. As familiarity with the Straits Settlements is not so general, a "travelogue" on this region costs $100.

The same principle is carried out throughout the graded list of prices. A Charles Dickens essay brings $2, while the "Servant Girl Problem" is catalogued for $20.

"We are the greatest help to the club women in the work of arranging their yearly programmes," said the woman in charge. "Our trade is not as good in Chicago as it is in the rural districts. We do an extensive mail order business."

CUTS AUTO IN HALVES.

Philadelphia Specifies His Touring Car Is Too Big.

Mechanics at a big garage in Portland were amazed recently when a young man, accompanied by a chauffeur, drove into the building in a $3,500 touring car and calmly announced that he had decided to cut the car in halves and turn it into a runabout, says a Portland dispatch to the Philadelphia Press. He gave his name as J. E. Caldwell, Philadelphia, and the chauffeur confided to the workmen that his employer had a mind of money.

"I am tired of this big heavy two seater rig," said Caldwell. "There's only two of us anyway, and we don't need such a big car. We have come all the way from Philadelphia in this, but I guess I'd rather go back in a runabout."

The mechanics went to work, and Mr. Caldwell stayed with them all night, directing their operations. The woman was sawed off completely and nothing left but the front seat and the trunk and propelling apparatus. Then an ordinary pine box was placed on the trucks, making the machine look like a tailless rooster.

Turtle in the Mail Bag.

A large snapping turtle arrived in a mail bag in the postoffice in Middletown, N. Y., says the New York Sun. A large number of mail bags had been emptied. When the clerk reached for a bundle a head popped out and snapped for his hand. The clerk was badly frightened. Kicking away the pile of mail, he uncovered the turtle. It weighed about fifteen pounds and was very ferocious, snapping at everything in sight. It had the run of the postoffice for a few minutes until a negro porter turned it on its back and got a rope around it. There was nothing to indicate where it had come from, and the clerk did not know which bag it had been in.

George Ade Won Oats Contest.

George Ade has demonstrated that he can raise oats. Ade has a fine farm in Newton county, his old home, and this season interested himself in oat growing, joining in a contest with neighboring farmers to see which could get the largest yield, says a Richmond (Ind.) dispatch. Ade claimed to know something about oats, but his neighbors were inclined to believe they would clean him up. Ade's crop was the last to be threshed, and it was found that he had the best yield in Newton county.

Girl Is a Living Statue.

By a peculiar habit Miss Annie Fuzee of Toledo has changed into a living statue, and her case is the strangest in the records of the probate court says a special dispatch to the New York Herald. She refuses to move a muscle of her body, but stands, sits or lies as she is placed. She will not move her head or her eyes, but sits all day in one position, staring fixedly at whatever is before her. She refuses to eat food of any kind.

Mrs. Cleveland's Great Climb.

Mrs. Grover Cleveland arrived in Bretton Woods, N. H., recently and made the ascent of Mount Washington, taking the rough nine mile tramp over the Crawford bridge path. Mrs. Cleveland was looking decidedly well. She arrived at the summit in time for luncheon, and had one of the season's clearest days for the view.

The recent rise in real estate valuation in the city of Madison has increased the real estate property of Senator Spooner to the extent of $7,000. His real estate is assessed this year at $24,000.

MORE EARTHQUAKES, BUT POSSIBLY NONE

Says Hicks in Predictions for September—Equinoctial Storms Mark Coming of Fall.

Prognosticator Hicks says for September: A regular storm period is central on the 12th, with magnetic crisis. Look for high temperatures, severe electrical phenomena, and much cooler weather to follow. A reactionary storm period is central on the 17th, 18th and 19th. This period will carry the earth to the center of its autumnal equinox. It will also inaugurate a series of storms and changes on land and sea, that will prove clear lines of demarcation between our summer and autumn. If West India hurricanes should not appear before, they are very apt to organize and begin their progress south of our gulf coasts about this time. But it will be prudent to heed all indications of these equatorial storms at all the September storm periods. We figure that such storms will be heard from within sixty hours of noon on the 18th. During the same period many storms of rain, wind, and thunder are apt to visit inland parts of the country generally, with a possible tornado here and there. Within the limits named—sixty hours from noon on the 12th—equinoctial storms and volcanic outbursts are among the phenomena to be anticipated. Of course we mention these things as probable in parts of the globe where such are common. While any part of the earth may be visited by them—the earth shivers especially—they reach their maximum of force and frequency only in well defined sections and countries. We mention them more as a great cosmic truth than as warnings of danger. We warn our readers that equatorial disturbances in the gulf region are more than probable at this time. The moon is in perigee or nearest the earth on the 21st and this fact will greatly increase the tendency to tidal waves at this period. From Sunday, the 23d, to Wednesday, the 26th, is a time of maximum storm probability. Look for a coming of tropical and boreal conditions, bringing rain, wind and thunder in some parts with possible sleet and early signs of snow in the far north. A reactionary disturbance is central on the 29th and 30th causing low barometer and general change to storm conditions as September goes out. Watch the events of this autumnal equinox.

Importance.

"What makes you regard your money as a thing of so much importance?" asked the somewhat cynical man.

"The eagerness of so many people to get some of it away from me," answered Mr. Dustin Stax.
